Ammer Asking PUCO For Phone Ruling

New Complaint Urges Circleville Hearing On Strike Service

Claiming that the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company is making unfair charges for telephone service during the current strike against the utility, Pickaway County Prosecutor William Ammer today planned to ask for a public hearing in Circleville.

Ammer was prepared to place his request before the Ohio Public Utilities Commission. He has criticized the phone service several times during the past few months.

The prosecutor claims the company's charges are excessive in view of the type of service being offered during the labor dispute. In support of his claim, Ammer listed 14 complaints against the utility's service.

In Ammer's complaint, the PUCO is being asked to order the company to reduce its charges during the strike and also to make any refunds necessary.

MINIMUM standards for service set up by the PUCO, Ammer declared, have not been maintained.

The complaint added in part: "Except for the first month's service, which resulted in a reduction of one-third of the local rate (in Pickaway County), the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Company has arbitrarily refused to make any reduction for the very poor service which has been continuous since the commencement of the strike."

In asking the PUCO to hold a hearing on the matter in Circleville, Ammer pointed out that "residents of the county who could testify relative to the poor service... would be unable to attend a hearing in Columbus."

Hypnotist Aids Judge Hearing 'Heart' Suit

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A balding, middle-aged hypnotist obtained dismissal of a $20,000 alienation of affections suit Thursday after he placed Mrs. Rose Werra, 43, in a trance before a judge and said softly:

"I command you to return to your former relationship with your husband. Show him respect and love. Do you understand that I will have no influence on you, that I will no longer be able to hypnotize you?"

"Yes," Mrs. Werra replied. The hypnotist, Jacob Appel, 59, continued: "When I count five you will be fully awake."

At the count of five Mrs. Werra opened her eyes, took her purse and left.

Thereupon Judge Harvey Neelan dismissed the suit. Silvester Werra, 44, had brought against Appel, a self-styled spiritualist.

Ohio Cold Spell Upsetting Routine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An extended cold spell introduces adventure into daily routine. Ohioans are learning.

The car won't start. Water pipes freeze. The heating system acts up.

Feet get frostbitten while you are waiting for a bus. It happened to Lois Robinson, 16, of Columbus.

But for those who do not care for weather-induced changes in routine, the weather bureau today offered a slight ray of hope.

"A slight moderation in temperatures is likely," the bureau suggested, "as temperatures at the source of the cold air become less severe."

The weatherman hurried on to add, however, that most of Ohio can expect snow today. Ashtabula, Lake and Geauga counties were warned to prepare for heavy snow squalls.

For the next five days, here is the official Ohio forecast:

"Temperatures will average 15-20 degrees below normal; normal high 35 north to 41 south; normal low 20 north to 24 south. Temperatures moderating slightly over weekend; little change thereafter.

"PRECIPITATION will average from 1/2 inch near Lake Erie to less than one-tenth inch elsewhere. Frequent snow flurries near Lake Erie. Occasional periods light snow elsewhere Monday through Wednesday."

Generally speaking, temperatures rose Thursday after the cold.

Polio Shots Set For Parents, Too

COLUMBUS (AP)—A new twist to the old "like father, like son" routine may give the polio vaccination campaign a big boost in the Youngstown area.

Mom may get in the act, too. According to Dr. Ralph Dwork, state health director, the Youngstown district steel industry has come up with a plan to offer Salk anti-polio shots to employees under 40 years of age.

The theory: When children see their fathers and mothers getting shots, they'll want the same thing. Dr. Dwork says he is 100 per cent behind the plan. Free vaccine is available to children and teenagers through county public health programs, Dr. Dwork said, but the programs have lagged considerably through public apathy.

Florida Civil War Veteran 109 Today

DEFUNIAK SPRINGS, Fla. (AP)—Confederate veteran William A. Lundy observed his 109th birthday today.

Hundreds of his neighbors planned to be on hand to help him celebrate.

Lundy, Florida's only survivor of the Civil War, will hold court at the Walton High School gymnasium.

The white-haired Lundy was a member of the Alabama Home Guard during the Civil War. His job was to defend the courthouse at his hometown of Elba, Ala.

Two other Confederate veterans survive: John Salling, 110, Slant, Va., and Walter W. Williams, 114, of Franklin, Tex.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The District of Columbia will have 160 snowplows handy next Monday just in case it snows on President Eisenhower's second inaugural day.

GOP Moving Toward Naming Of Chairman

'Fraudulent' Telegrams Spice Maneuvering Of Party's Chieftains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republicans maneuvering toward the choice of a new national chairman weighed today the effects of a telegram which later was branded as "fraudulent."

H. Meade Alcorn Jr., Connecticut national committeeman, appeared still to have the inside track to succeed Leonard W. Hall Feb. 1, but the name of former Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas was entered in the speculation by some who prefer a new chairman from the West or Midwest.

Several others also have been mentioned, among them New York State GOP Chairman L. Judson Morhouse and Presidential Asst. Howard Pyle, a former governor of Arizona.

Harold E. Stassen described as "false and fraudulent" Thursday a telegram purportedly sent by him to 40 or 50 GOP National Committee members saying that "the time has come for liberals to take a stand." Not all those to whom it went are considered in the party's liberal wing.

The telegram urged support of Alcorn for the post, but could have had the opposite effect by stirring antagonisms within the party.

TWO SUPPORTERS of Alcorn, Senators Bush and Purtell of Connecticut, contended today the net effect of the telegram and its repudiation could help the Connecticut man's candidacy.

Sen. Thyne (R-Minn.) said Alcorn "is in high esteem among the Republicans around the nation," but added he isn't certain whether the telegram incident would help or hurt his chances for the post.

Probe Of Refugee Visas Is Planned

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) said today the House Immigration subcommittee will investigate what he termed the "illegal" grant of visas to about 6,200 Hungarian refugees.

He said the visas were "illegal" because there were no guarantees of employment and no such screening as the law provides.

In order to speed admission of the refugees, the usual requirements for individual guarantees were waived, and church and welfare groups were permitted to make mass guarantees for employment of the refugees.

1,685 Government Forms Eliminated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post-office Department today proudly announced a major victory in the "battle against red tape."

The department said that in the last four years it had eliminated 1,685 different forms "which formerly plagued the public and postal personnel."

In addition, the department said its program has resulted in "greatly simplified use" of many of the remaining forms and reduced the use of others.

And soon, the department said, 8,000 forms now used in major post offices will be pared down to 119—plus 55 newly-designed forms.

Three Big U. S. Jets Circle Globe Non-Stop

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force announced today that three B52 bombers landed at March Air Force Base near Los Angeles today after making a 24,325-mile, nonstop flight around the world.

The planes were in the air 45 hours, 19 minutes, and flew at an average speed of 525 miles an hour. The flight left Castle Air Force Base, Calif., at about mid-afternoon Wednesday.

The Air Force said a fourth plane, following a previously prepared plan, left the formation over Africa and landed in England "on schedule."

The big Boeing, eight-jet bombers were refueled several times in flight by tanker planes.

The route took the bombers across the United States to Newfoundland, then over the Atlantic to French Morocco; over the City of Dhahran in Saudi Arabia; along the coasts of India and Ceylon; near the Malay Peninsula; over the Philippines and Guam before heading over the East Pacific.

THE TIME in flight was less than half the 94 hours, 1 minute required by the propeller-driven B50, Lucky Lady II, on the first non-stop globe-girdling journey in 1949.

Air Force officials emphasized that the operation was not a stunt. They said it was an actual demonstration of the capability of the giant bombers to reach any point on the globe and return to base.

Obviously, this demonstration would have interest abroad, especially in Russia.

In line with the policy of demonstration rather than stunt, plans called for the bombers to execute a simulated bombing run—exactly as they would do in a combat mission—at approximately the halfway point.

The planned course was to take the bombers over a route almost equaling the greatest distance around the earth, at the equator.

The total time of the world-girdling jet bombers was lengthened by several hours because of the refueling procedure necessary with present equipment.

The B52s used KC97 tanker planes to replenish their fuel. The KC97 is powered with four conventional piston engines. Its useful ceiling for refueling is about 22,000 feet. A B52 cruises at about twice that altitude.

THIS MEANS that the bomber must descend to the level of the tanker plane and cut speed sharply for its refueling contact, then climb back to altitude—using both extra fuel and extra time.

Replacements for the KC97 are now in production, the new, all-jet KC135. This tanker plane, built by Boeing, is similar in appearance and performance to the B52.

Springfield Man Dies Of Exposure

As the Chinese piled their guests with Soviet brandy and Chinese wine, Khrushchev grabbed a microphone to declare that he is a Communist.

"But some people say you are a Stalinist," Soviet Premier Bulganin interjected.

News Of World In Brief

Hungarians Face Famine, UN Finds

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. observers reported today that revolt-torn Hungary faces a severe food shortage and 12 per cent unemployment by midyear.

The four-man mission visited Budapest Jan. 4-7 to look into relief needs as a result of the rebellion against Soviet domination.

The group said that to stave off the food shortage Hungary needs 440,000 tons of various foods; 14,500 tons of seed; and 10,150 tons of chemical fertilizer.

The food items included 400,000 tons of wheat; 20,000 tons of sugar; 10,000 tons each of lard and tallow; and 5,000 tons of lemons.

The observers approved a suggestion from the International Committee of the Red Cross, which has been distributing U. N. relief goods in Hungary, that Hungary be given the needed foods and farm supplies but that they in turn be sold to the Hungarian people through normal economic channels and at "the basic average world prices."

The U. N. group said free distribution of the relief supplies would be difficult if not impossible and would be "undesirable on general economic grounds."

Channels for distribution of free supplies are mostly in the hands of the Soviet-supported Communist government. Some refugees have charged Communists were faring better than others, but the mission said it found the Red Cross job "exemplary."

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda today suggested to Britain an easy way out of her "plight." It was to drop bad associates, including the United States and take up with Russia.

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese Cabinet today officially endorsed a previously disclosed decision not to buy U. S. surplus farm products this year. The Cabinet action paves the way for the reopening of stalled Japanese-Australian trade talks.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia arrived today to a 21-gun salute and a warm welcome from President Nasser, Saud, Nasser and representatives of Jordan and Syria were expected to discuss their attitude toward President Eisenhower's new Middle East Program. Saud will visit Eisenhower in Washington at the end of this month.

Special Missile Units Scheduled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is organizing special missile-equipped forces designed to back up formations of Allied troops.

The "Southern European Task Force" already is stationed in northern Italy. Pentagon officials said five others will be established. They will average about 6,000 men each.

The unit now in Italy is armed with Corporal and Honest John Rockets. The new Redstone ballistic missile, which has a 20-mile range, is to be added, along with conventional weapons.

Evangelist Urging 'Religion Of Fire'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham Thursday suggested making Christianity "a religion of fire."

Graham told graduates of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary they should be increasingly authoritative in their preaching.

"Unless the church becomes authoritative," he said, "it predict there will be a tremendous turning away from the church in the next generation."

He also suggested delivering simple but decisive messages.

42-Year-Old Bible To Be Used By Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will rest his hand on a Bible given to him by his mother in 1915 when he is sworn into office for a second term.

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He hath chosen for His inheritance."

Money Missing From Safe In Son's Grill

Police Reveal Pair Taken To London For Lie Detector

Circleville city police said today they are awaiting the return of a sergeant from London to learn more details of a reported theft of $4,000 from a downtown tavern.

Department heads here said full details are in the possession of Sgt. Leory Hawks, who went to London this morning, accompanied by two men. Police said they wanted to have the men undergo lie detector tests in connection with the case.

Only a meager outline of the story, however, was available here, pending the return of the group from headquarters of the Bureau of Criminal Identification.

"Sergeant Hawks is the only one who has all the information," Sgt. George Green told reporters shortly before noon.

POLICE said the money was reportedly missing from the tavern about 6 a. m. today by Bob Tootie, manager. The establishment is located on S. Court St. one-half block south of the Court-Main intersection.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman and Sergeant Green said the tavern safe was not forced open, and that there was no sign of a break in at the bar.

The missing money was in both cash and checks.

Sergeant Green said he was told by Sergeant Hawks that approximately $4,000 was unaccounted for.

Late April Said Date For Tito's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Late April reportedly has been fixed as the time for a state visit by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito to the U. S.

Officials told of U. S.-Yugoslavian agreement on the April date Thursday after Secretary of State Dulles had conferred with Leo Mates, the Yugoslavian ambassador. Officially, the State Department had nothing to say about the purpose of Mates' talk with Dulles.

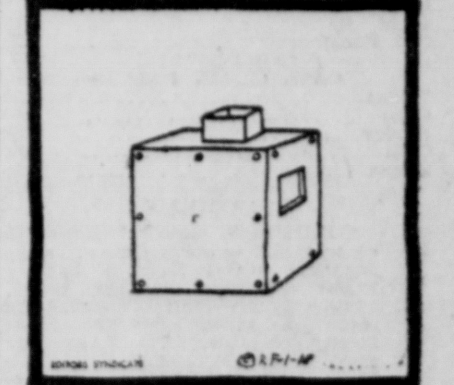

Growing opposition has been voiced to Communist Tito's visit. This opposition has come from Roman Catholic groups, veterans organizations and members of Congress—including Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis.) who said he would resign in protest if Tito comes to the United States.

DROODLES

By ROGER PRICE

"TURTLE-NECK SWEATER FOR A ROBOT"

I thought of this Doodle last week while I was watching my Colleague, Dr. Schweine, give his Mechanical Man, Gearzo, a ten-thousand mile check-up. If you could see Gearzo I'm sure you'd agree that he's just about the most intelligent robot in the world. He can walk, talk, remember, whistle, dance, and he even watches Television (not the programs—the tubes in the back of the set). A few months ago Gearzo disappeared for two days and Dr. Schweine certainly was worried about him. I guess he would have called the police or the Missing Robot Bureau if he hadn't gone down to the basement to investigate some hammering that was going on. It was Gearzo all right and Dr. Schweine says he found him in the nick of time. He was building himself a Mechanical Woman.

Company Shuns Arbitration

Phone Labor Dispute Still Stalemated

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. today rejected a union suggestion to submit to arbitration the issues prolonging the 189-day-old southern Ohio telephone strike.

And neither the company nor the striking Communications of America (CWA) budged during Thursday's 11-hour negotiating session, a federal mediator reported.

Mediator N. W. Fillo said the meeting produced "no progress."

Negotiations between the company and the CWA will resume today in the Seneca hotel here.

Fillo said there were no joint sessions Thursday. Mediators met first with one side and then the other in an attempt to reach an agreement, he said.

In turning down a union proposal to arbitrate the issues, Frank Lennberg, director of industrial relations, said the company's position is that it "cannot turn its business over to outsiders."

HE SAID signing a contract is a matter for the company to decide.

The union suggested arbitration in a letter to interim Gov. John Brown earlier this month. Brown forwarded it to the company.

The union arbitration suggestion, had it been accepted by the company, would have meant that a "judge" appointed by the governor would have rendered a "verdict" which would not have been binding on either party in the dispute.

Some 600 CWA members went on strike against the company last July 15 when a one-year union-company contract expired.

Retention of a union shop clause and 15 other contractual issues are in dispute.

The group said that to stave off the food shortage Hungary needs 440,000 tons of various foods; 14,500 tons of seed; and 10,150 tons of chemical fertilizer.

N. relief goods in Hungary, that Hungary be given the needed foods and farm supplies but that they in turn be sold to the Hungarian people through normal economic channels and at "the basic average world prices."

The U. N. group said free distribution of the relief supplies would be difficult if not impossible and would be "undesirable on general economic grounds."

Channels for distribution of free supplies are mostly in the hands of the Soviet-supported Communist government. Some refugees have charged Communists were faking better than others, but the mission said it found the Red Cross job "exemplary."

Police Reveal Pair Taken To London For Lie Detector

Circleville city police said today they are awaiting the return of a sergeant from London to learn more details of a reported theft of $4,000 from a downtown tavern.

Department heads here said full details are in the possession of Sgt. Leary Hawks, who went to London this morning, accompanied by two men. Police said they wanted to have the men undergo lie detector tests in connection with the case.

Only a meager outline of the story, however, was available here, pending the return of the group from headquarters of the Bureau of Criminal Identification.

"Sergeant Hawks is the only one who has all the information," Sgt. George Green told reporters shortly before noon.

POLICE said the money was reported missing from the tavern about 6 a. m. today by Bob Tootle, manager. The establishment is located on S. Court St. one-half block south of the Court-Main intersection.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman and Sergeant Green said the tavern safe was not forced open, and that there was no sign of a break-in at the bar.

The missing money was in both cash and checks.

Sergeant Green said he was told by Sergeant Hawks that approximately $4,000 was unaccounted for.

Late April Said Date For Tito's Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Late April reportedly has been fixed as the time for a state visit by Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito to the U. S.

Officials told of U. S.-Yugoslavian agreement on the April date Thursday after Secretary of State Dulles had conferred with Leo Mates, the Yugoslavian ambassador. Officially, the State Department had nothing to say about the purpose of Mates' talk with Dulles.

Growing opposition has been voiced to Communist Tito's visit. This opposition has come from Roman Catholic groups, veterans organizations and members of Congress—including Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis) who said he would resign in protest if Tito comes to the United States.

Evangelist Urging 'Religion Of Fire'

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham Thursday suggested making Christianity "a religion of fire."

Graham told graduates of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary they should be increasingly authoritative in their preaching.

"Unless the church becomes authoritative," he said, "I predict there will be a tremendous turning away from the church in the next generation."

He also suggested delivering simple but decisive messages.

"Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord; and the people whom He hath chosen for His inheritance."

Senator Predicts Boost In Postage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.) said today he believes Congress will increase postal rates this year.

However, the Kansas indicated he wasn't sure the lawmakers would go along with the full $654 million annual increase requested in President Eisenhower's budget.

Carlson is senior Republican on the Senate Postoffice Committee.

Eisenhower did not spell out how he proposed to get the additional revenue, but administration officials have said Congress will be asked to boost the letter rate from 3 to 5 cents an ounce.

Company Shuns Arbitration

Phone Labor Dispute Still Stalemated

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. today rejected a union suggestion to submit to arbitration the issues prolonging the 189-day-old southern Ohio telephone strike.

And neither the company nor the striking Communications of America (CWA) budged during Thursday's 11-hour negotiating session, a federal mediator reported.

Mediator N. W. Fillo said the meeting produced "no progress."

Negotiations between the company and the CWA will resume today in the Seneca hotel here.

Fillo said there were no joint sessions Thursday. Mediators met first with one side and then the other in an attempt to reach an agreement, he said.

In turning down a union proposal to arbitrate the issues, Frank Lennberg, director of industrial relations, said the company's position is that it "cannot turn its business over to outsiders."

HE SAID signing a contract is a matter for the company to decide.

The union suggested arbitration in a letter to interim Gov. John Brown earlier this month. Brown forwarded it to the company.

The union arbitration suggestion, had it been accepted by the company, would have meant that a "judge" appointed by the governor would have rendered a "verdict" which would not have been binding on either party in the dispute.

Some 600 CWA members went on strike against the company last July 15 when a one-year union-company contract expired.

Retention of a union shop clause and 15 other contractual issues are in dispute.

Early Morning Fire Damages Farm Dwelling

Williamsport and Ashville firemen were called to battle a house fire early today at a Jackson Township farm occupied by William Pontius and his family. The firefighters fought the blaze for two hours in sub-zero temperatures.

All eight rooms and the roof of the 75-year old dwelling were damaged by the blaze, which apparently started in a wall between the kitchen and cupboard. Firemen first experienced difficulty in getting at the fire because it spread within the walls to other parts of the house.

The fire was discovered by Pontius' wife, Evelyn, about 3:30 a. m. when she was awakened to treat a daughter, 8, who had suffered a nose bleed. Pontius removed his wife and six children to the home of Bryan Russell nearby. He then called the sheriff's office.

Williamsport firemen arrived about 3:45, followed by the Ashville apparatus.

Firemen said the blaze probably was caused by a defective flue. It apparently had been burning for several hours before discovery.

Damage to the house, which is owned by Mrs. Needa Anderson of Connecticut, was estimated at $5,000. Pontius estimated loss of his belongings at $1,000, most of it due to water soaking.

Fire was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey.

ATCHISON, Kan. (P)—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Steele, married for 26 years, plan to make it strictly legal Saturday.

The Steeles were married Aug. 26, 1930, at the Goddard, Kan., Methodist Church. Steele said they were the fifth couple married there that day. Apparently the minister misplaced their marriage license in the shuffle.

The completed certificate never was returned to probate court for record.

Withdrawal Plan For Israeli Taking Shape

Arab States, Russia, America And Jews Said Agreeing On Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (P)—A new mandate for U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to engineer the ticklish job of getting Israel's remaining troops out of Egypt shaped up today in the General Assembly.

The Arab states, Russia, the United States and Israel herself all appeared agreed on this main goal, with variations.

There seemed little doubt the Assembly would give solid approval to an African-Asian resolution calling on Hammarskjöld to report completion of Israeli withdrawal within five days.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. announced support of the 24-nation resolution but went a step further. He recommended that U. N. Emergency Force units move in at once to fill the breach left by Israeli withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the strategic Sharm el Sheikh area, commanding the Gulf of Aqaba waterway to southern Israel.

HE VOICED hope Hammarskjöld would come up soon with a plan for deploying the emergency force along the Egyptian-Israeli line and in the Sharm el Sheikh area.

Russia's V. V. Kuznetsov also supported the withdrawal resolution after accusing Israel of indicating she intends to stay in both Gaza and the Aqaba Gulf keypoint. He also charged the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine was being used as a mask to cover up "imperialistic" American designs in that area.

Israel told the Assembly she would pull her troops out of the Gaza Strip and Sharm el Sheikh.

But her foreign minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, laid down conditions that some diplomats feared would be difficult to meet.

A takeover by U. N. Emergency Force units in those vital areas would not be enough, she declared. She added that Israel also wants assurances that shipping will be protected in the Aqaba Gulf, from which Egyptian guns barred Israeli shipping until the Sinai invasion.

14-Year-Old Extortionist Nabbed By Police In Akron

AKRON (P)—Postal inspectors and police trapped a boy extortionist for cowboy star Roy Rogers here Thursday.

The 14-year-old's plot to extort $500,000 from Rogers collapsed when he was cornered in the boiler room of the U. L. Light Junior High School in Barberton.

Postal inspectors said the boy admitted writing a letter to Rogers last Dec. 22, demanding he send the half million dollars, or be subjected to "moral disgrace" by the distribution to school children of "altered photographs."

One officer described the letter as "well-executed, well-written and well-thought out."

It instructed Rogers to send the money to "Peter Jones, Baggage Room, Greyhound Bus Station, Akron." When it had been dispatched Rogers was to insert a classified ad in the Akron Beacon Journal.

Rogers got the letter in Hollywood among his Christmas fan mail and turned it over to authorities. Postal inspectors inserted the classified ad Wednesday, staked out the Greyhound station and waited.

Ohio Fuel Gas Supply OK Now
COLUMBUS, Ohio (P)—Gas supplies for industrial purposes were to be restored today, the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. said. The company Thursday cut off part of its gas supply to industrial customers in the Toledo area.

A company spokesman said at that time several large industries were receiving no gas for heating purposes and some were getting only 90 per cent of their normal supply for industrial processes.

An explosion at the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline's Liberal, Kan., pumping station forced the curtailment. Panhandle supplies Ohio Fuel Gas with about 25 per cent of its gas.

Only industries required by law to have emergency standby supplies were cut off from heating gas, the gas company said.

Early Morning Fire Damages Farm Dwelling

Williamsport and Ashville firemen were called to battle a house fire early today at a Jackson Township farm occupied by William Pontius and his family. The firefighters fought the blaze for two hours in sub-zero temperatures.

All eight rooms and the roof of the 75-year old dwelling were damaged by the blaze, which apparently started in a wall between the kitchen and cupboard. Firemen first experienced difficulty in getting at the fire because it spread within the walls to other parts of the house.

The fire was discovered by Pontius' wife, Evelyn, about 3:30 a. m. when she was awakened to treat a nose bleed. Pontius removed his wife and six children to the home of Bryan Russell nearby. He then called the sheriff's office.

Williamsport firemen arrived about 3:45, followed by the Ashville apparatus.

Firemen said the blaze probably was caused by a defective flue. It apparently had been burning for several hours before discovery.

Damage to the house, which is owned by Mrs. Needa Anderson of Connecticut, was estimated at $5,000. Pontius estimated loss of his belongings at $1,000, most of it due to water soaking.

Fire was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey.

Experimental Car Features Motor Display

Officials of the Circleville New Car Dealers Auto Show now being held at the Fairgrounds Coliseum announced that the "ATMOS", an experimental car of the future produced by the Ford Motor Company will be on display today and tomorrow.

The "Atmos" features many things which may be far into the future, but are distinct possibilities. In front of the car, retractable antennae are used as proximity controls—to automatically reduce car speed as it approached a vehicle ahead too closely.

An automatic pilot is used on super highways. Hand grips, power actuated, replace the steering wheel. Accelerator and brake control are one treadle—toe for throttle; heel for brake; reducing time lag in normal movement from throttle to brake.

A "Roadster Scope" directly in front of driver brings scanner television pictures of road far ahead to driver enabling him to avoid congested areas.

The Auto Show will be staged at the Fairgrounds Coliseum tonight, Saturday and Sunday from noon to 10 p. m. Highlight will be all the '57 model cars plus a grand prize of a trip to Miami, Fla., for two.

W. Va. Driver Injured In Rt. 23 Crash

Russell P. Thomas, 54, of Charleston, W. Va. was injured when the car he was driving went out of control on Rt. 23 about four miles north of Circleville at 5:05 p. m. yesterday.

Thomas, driving south, lost control at a point where Rt. 23 narrows from four to two lanes. The car hit a dividing barricade, turned over and rolled several hundred feet into a road construction area. The vehicle was completely demolished.

David E. Allmon, 23, of Columbus, who was driving north, and passed Thomas as he lost control, reported that an object thought to be a piece of Thomas' car struck his windshield, causing minor damage.

Thomas suffered lacerations to both hands, possible cracked ribs and a fractured right arm. He was taken first to Berger Hospital and later to White Cross in Columbus where he was treated and released.

Damage to the safety barricade was undetermined. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover.

West-Educated Arabs Feel Like Policy 'Misses Point'

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of articles dealing with conditions in the touchy Middle East.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP FOREIGN NEWS ANALYST

The young, Western - educated Arab slammed his fist on the table in anger.

"How long," he demanded, "must I go on being ashamed for my own people? How long must I go on despising the rulers of my own country?"

My young friend — call him Sa'ad—frankly described himself as a member of the growing group of young people calling themselves the disgusted ones of Iraq.

"We are like many other young people in Arab countries," he said. "We are becoming desperate. We will take any change — so long as it's a change."

"You Americans speak of a vacuum here. There is your real vacuum. It is not military. The young people of the Arab world will make its future for better or worse. You must help give them something to look forward to."

Sa'ad, like many another in the area, wants to be a friend of the West. He likes and copies Western ways. He suspects Russians and Communists.

Will he welcome the Eisenhower doctrine? Only in the sense that the United States is taking more direct interest in the Middle East. The Eisenhower statement promised nothing that would directly solve Sa'ad's problems or the problems of Israel either, for that matter.

If it means there will eventually be a clearcut American policy in the Middle East, Sa'ad, will welcome the statement. He feels the absence of a common Western policy in the Middle East permitted Communist infiltration. The Communists made such strides that the Arab nations, recognizing the danger, outlawed the party and jailed Red leaders.

But Sa'ad seems to think the Eisenhower statement misses the point. He wants desperately to have the United States spell out in detail just what it considers its interests and responsibilities.

For Sa'ad and many like him, the President laid too much stress on military action and showed too little inclination to face up to the facts of life.

Both Arabs and Israelis have indicated that above all else they need a period of quiet — freedom from the interminable tension. Only if this can be achieved, they say, can there be any attempt to attack the real roots of the danger.

The danger is this: Not a single Arab state in the Middle East can offer its people a firm promise of security. Not an Arab state in the area — possibly excepting Lebanon—can lay claim to any stability.

The Arab remembers his long colonial history. The memory makes him hate the Baghdad Pact which links Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Britain to Arab Iraq. This, they said, is an area pact imposed by Britain as a manifestation of continuing colonialism and an effort to keep the Arab world divided.

An ocean of bitterness and frustration provided plenty of troubled water for Communist fishing. A Russian offensive, argues the literate Arab — and many seasoned Western observers agree with him — can ignore military pacts. It can concentrate on the political, cultural and economic aspects in a patient campaign.

Arab leaders aware of this are frightened by the thought. In Egypt, for example, the Communists remain in jail, despite accusations of pro-Communism against President Nasser. Iraq's government was so frightened of Communist infiltration that it severed relations with all Communist countries. A law outlawing communists remains on Syria's books, though the Communists are becoming so influential now in the wake of Soviet arms deliveries that the law can be ignored.

Egyptian and most other Arab leaders insist the Russian advance will not be military for a long time to come, but a progressive weakening of internal fronts. Therefore the Arabs continue to insist on the principle of self defense for within. This means more than military defense. It means defense through economic security.

Most of these leaders agree there is a Russian danger. It can be checked, they insist, not by Western domination but only by cooperation.

"Make us sufficiently strong to defend our own internal fronts and we will call on you if necessary to defend our frontiers," they are telling the United States.

Many thoughtful Arab leaders are seeking a way out of the area's pressing troubles. Frequently the suggestion is heard that a new league of Arab states, under United Nations auspices and with a fund sponsored by the United States, make an exhaustive study of the resources and how they could be used to develop the area.

If such a program should get under way with American technical help, it might go a long way toward providing an effective weapon against the sort of Communist penetration which cannot be fought off with guns.

TO NEGLECT NATURAL MEANS IS INFIDELITY

A few years ago two boys stood at the edge of a tent at a revival meeting of so-called "divine healers" and became involved in a difficulty. One young man took a pocket knife and cut the other so severely that he died. He lay in the sand bleeding to death, and people got around him and prayed and prayed, and watched him bleed to death. There is a law of God concerning a severed vein, and for them to refuse to do what they knew to be right was a violation of the laws of God. Those responsible should have been put in prison for criminal negligence! That is not divine healing. That is infidelity. Certainly it is right to pray, but wrong to not do what we can ourselves!

WHY DID CHRIST PERFORM MIRACLES?

Nicodemus said: "Rabbi, we know that thou art a teacher come from God: for no man can do these miracles that thou doest, except God be with him" (John 3:2). This shows that one purpose of the miracles of Christ was to establish the claim that He was the Son of God. Jesus himself said: "But I have greater witness than that of John: for the works which the Father hath given me to finish, the same works that I do, bear witness of me, that the Father hath sent me" (John 5:36). Also, His miracles were performed to show that He, as the Son of God, had power on earth to forgive sins (Mark 2:10-11). We do not need miracles today to prove that Christ is the Son of God. That fact was proved conclusively by His resurrection. A proposition once proved is forever proved. Those facts and miracles are written that we might believe it (John 20:30-31; Rom. 10:17). (More next time on MIRACLES).

Inauguration Affair Hard On Spectators

NEW YORK (AP) — The inauguration of a President of the United States attracts thousands of Americans to Washington every four years.

The weather is traditionally bad in Washington on inauguration day. If it isn't raining, it's usually freezing cold. In 1841 William Henry Harrison caught a cold while standing bare-headed at the inauguration ceremony and died a month later. The weather was so bad on the day of William Howard Taft's 1909 inaugural that the ceremonies had to be moved into the Senate Chamber from the traditional East Portico of the Capitol.

The problem with attending an inauguration, apart from obtaining hotel reservations, is that you can't take it all in. If you go to the Capitol for the ceremony itself, it's difficult to get down to Pennsylvania Avenue and find a place in the crowds from which to watch the inaugural parade.

And to reach the White House and watch both the parade and the President reviewing the parade is virtually impossible. Finally, you're a rare citizen indeed if invited to one of the inaugural balls.

You're really better off to stay at home this year. Thanks to the efforts of television, you can sit comfortably at home and see everything, whatever the weather. For the three networks — ABC, CBS, NBC — are going all out to provide full inauguration coverage next Monday.

West-Educated Arabs Feel 'Like Policy 'Misses Point'

Editor's Note: Following is the last in a series of articles dealing with conditions in the touchy Middle East.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP FOREIGN NEWS ANALYST

The young, Western-educated Arab slammed his fist on the table in anger.

"How long," he demanded, "must I go on being ashamed for my own people? How long must I go on despising the rulers of my own country?"

My young friend — call him Sa'ad — frankly described himself as a member of the growing group of young people calling themselves the disgusted ones of Iraq.

"We are like many other young people in Arab countries," he said. "We are becoming desperate. We will take any change — so long as it's a change."

"You Americans speak of a vacuum here. There is your real vacuum. It is not military. The young people of the Arab world will make its future for better or worse. You must help give them something to look forward to."

Sa'ad, like many another in the area, wants to be a friend of the West. He likes and copies Western ways. He suspects Russians and Communists.

Will he welcome the Eisenhower doctrine? Only in the sense that the United States is taking more direct interest in the Middle East. The Eisenhower statement promised nothing that would directly solve Sa'ad's problems or the problems of Israel either, for that matter.

If it means there will eventually be a clearcut American policy in the Middle East, Sa'ad will welcome the statement. He feels the absence of a common Western policy in the Middle East permitted Communist infiltration. The Communists made such strides that the Arab nations, recognizing the danger, outlawed the party and jailed Red leaders.

But Sa'ad seems to think the Eisenhower statement misses the point. He wants desperately to have the United States spell out in detail just what is considered its interests and responsibilities.

For Sa'ad and many like him, the President laid too much stress on military action and showed too little inclination to face up to the facts of life.

Both Arabs and Israelis have indicated that above all else they need a period of quiet — freedom from the interminable tension. Only if this can be achieved, they say, can there be any attempt to attack the real roots of the danger.

The danger is this: Not a single Arab state in the Middle East can offer its people a firm promise of security. Not an Arab state in the area — possibly excepting Lebanon — can lay claim to any stability.

Circus Elephant OK In Speed Trial

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — A circus elephant, Miss Burma, has proved beyond a doubt that she is fast enough to keep up with the brisk pace of the President's inaugural parade.

Time trials, conducted on the main street here Thursday saw the five-ton GOP mascot handily exceed the 120 steps a minute required in the parade. Miss Burma's official time for the course was not revealed by owner Jack Mills. The elephant and an entourage of admirers leave for Washington, D.C., today.

Is Miraculous Divine Healing Being Performed Today?—No. 2

We have previously noticed in studying the above question that God heals today through natural law and that it need not be miraculous to be divine. Because God has the power to work miracles of healing today it does not necessarily follow that He is doing so. He is not using all his power. God once made a man out of the dust of the ground, but He is not doing that today, yet we all admit that He has such power.

TO NEGLECT NATURAL MEANS IS INFIDELITY
A few years ago two boys stood at the edge of a tent at a revival meeting of so-called "divine healers" and became involved in a difficulty. ### TOO MUCH AT STAKE

CONSUMER resistance to rising prices is reported to be under way to some degree. But there are more price rises to come.

Increased overseas aid is already being felt. Steel, in increasing demand, will probably advance in price, particularly in view of automatic wage increases that are written into labor contracts. Price increases have already occurred in rayon, carpets and plywood. A freight rate increase has been authorized.

As a result of the Middle Eastern embargo, pressure of demand on U. S. oil has increased substantially. Crude has increased in price, and gasoline and other oil products are being marked up. Above-ground reserves of crude are expected to decrease by from 1 to 2 million barrels a week for at least several months.

The purchasing power of the U. S. dollar, now just a shade over 50 cents on the basis of the 100-cent dollar of 1939, will inevitably shrink further. Should that cause consumers to lessen their buying, a decision on remedies for the wage-price spiral will be inescapable. There is too much at stake in the nation's economy to permit inflation to eat interminably at its vitals.

B52 NOT OBSOLETE

A NUMBER OF Washington news items recently have hinted that the B52 Stratofortress is already obsolete though production has barely started. Intimations have been that Russia has defenses for the superbombers, or that in a few years intercontinental guided missiles will put such bombers out of business.

Perhaps the most reliable commentary comes from News Week Magazine which notes: "Despite claims that the B52 is fast flying into obsolescence, the Air Force is not freezing its design. In fact, improvements are now being made to make it higher, faster and a poorer target."

"Strategic Air Command brass believe the B52 will give the U. S. good retaliatory protection for five years. By then, they hope, the intercontinental guided missile should be perfected."

Seen in this light, the B52's importance remains unchallenged. Until the ICBM is completed—and towering problems remain in the way—the B52 is the nation's primary shield against Russian aggression.

If it is only an interim weapon, that makes it no less important. Wars are not won by weapons not yet built, no matter how good.

REAPPORTIONMENT MOVE

AN OKLAHOMA case of portent for citizens of other states is headed for the United States Supreme Court.

The nation's highest court has reportedly accepted for full review a suit which attempted to force the Oklahoma legislature to reapportion the state for legislative representation.

In the past the Supreme Court has refused to take such cases, apparently fearing that this would be federal interference in a state's business and a blow to states' rights. Some commentators fear it is significant that the court is now accepting such a case.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The Boards of Education of the City of New York are having a difficult time keeping Communists out of the school system no matter how much harm the Communists may do to the students and to the country.

In the instance of the Board of Higher Education, the courts have intervened to give protection and comfort to the Communists; in the instance of the Board of Education, James E. Allen, Jr., Commissioner of Education of the State of New York, has intervened on grounds that seem, at best, to be dubious.

The question hinges on providing information about others. Communists call a person who provides such information an informer which has become a dirty word; the FBI refers to them as informants which cleans it up somewhat.

The fact of the matter is that information on any subject must come from those who know; it cannot be picked out of the air. Those who have the most valuable information about Communists are Communists, some of whom leave the party and are willing to tell all; others say that they have left the party but are unwilling to tell anything.

In recent years, some who have professed Marxist materialism which is by rule, atheistic, insist that they may not give information about others because their religious beliefs forbid it. But when did they acquire such religious beliefs?

Commissioner Allen, speaking for the New York State Education Department, said:

"... In my judgment the (New York City) Board is most optimistic if it believes that a jury will convict on the flimsy evidence of informers. It is, of course, perhaps true that the Board, when the name is known, might be able to obtain corroborating evidence. It is also possible for the Board to call the teacher in and ask whether he or she is a Communist. The argument that the Board needs someone to name names is of no value here because the Board in any event can call in any teacher, or for that matter, all teachers, and ask if they are Communists..."

How naive can one be? In 1920, it might have been assumed that such a question could be asked with the expectation of a truthful answer. If a Communist answered truthfully, he would probably be expelled from the party.

Dr. Allen apparently issues obiter dicta without reading the record which abounds with perjury and contempt charges and convictions. The most valuable information any agency has received on the subject of Communists and Communism has come from so-called informers. Nevertheless, Dr. Allen says "the use of an informer is of little value."

Peter Campbell Brown, Corporation Counsel of New York City, in a statement to the court on this subject, said:

"For example, your Honor, the convictions of Hiss, the convictions of the Rosenbergs and of the 11 top echelon Communists in the lengthy trial at Foley Square is irrefutable proof that the testimony of former members of the Communist Party is not regarded as flimsy, the word of the Commissioner, but instead and contrary to that, your Honor, did persuade juries to convict and Courts to uphold these convictions."

It's always easier to arrive at a firm conviction after the boss reveals what he thinks.

Average American is warned he will catch at least three colds a Winter. It would be more fun to merely pursue them.

One of the most durable aspects of the holiday season was fruit cake.

To Be President, Go Fishing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A wise mother will teach her boy to fish right now if she hopes later in life he'll angle for an address at the White House, Washington, D. C.

The odds are heavy against the lad who hasn't at least learned to dangle a worm in water at the end of a pole.

A majority of U. S. Presidents, from Dwight Eisenhower right on back to George Washington, member of the first sport fishing club formed in North America, have been more or less ardent followers of Isaac Walton.

The voters elected 14 consecutive fishing Presidents, but never have elected three non-fishermen in a row.

Calvin Coolidge bowed to tradition and apparently became a fisherman after his election.

Grover Cleveland, one of a number of Presidents criticized for spending too much time fishing, replied:

"Every patriotic, thoughtful citizen, whether he fishes or not, should lament that we have not among our countrymen more fishermen."

Commented President Herbert Hoover:

"The American people have respect for privacy only on two occasions: One of them is praying and the other is fishing, and the President can't pray all the time..."

President Eisenhower's tip: "Caution is the most valuable asset in fishing, especially if you are the fish."

In the 1920s famous people like Bobby Jones, Babe Ruth, Bernard Baruch and the Duke of Windsor were caps.

But from a peak of 55 million caps in 1927 production fell to 27 million in 1937, and these were mostly work or sport caps.

Why the slump? The Cap and Cloth Hat Institute says the gangster films in the 1930s murdered their business.

"Every time Jimmy Cagney threw a pie in Mae's face, he was wearing a cap," said Eugene Saunders, president of the institute. "Every crook, hoodlum, thug or murderer left a cap at the scene of the crime."

"In 1932 alone, 234 cap-wearing movie criminals were either killed or jailed. The producers should have been executed."

The cap manufacturers, riding a new boom, are proud that caps now adorn the heads of people like President Eisenhower, baseball star Ted Williams, actor Rex Harrison, and author Ernest Hemingway.

This time the cap-makers have declared an open war against movie or TV producers who "identify gangsters by having them wear a cap." Top hats, fedoras, derbies or football helmets all are OK. But caps—No!

SYNOPSIS

Lieutenant Chad Endicott, a Civil War veteran, is killed when he is ordered from St. Louis to establish an Army post in hostile Dakota Territory. For he must leave his fiancée, Elizabeth Tipton, daughter of General Tipton, and postpone their marriage for at least a year. Before he leaves, Chad warns Alvin Stiner, a wealthy trader and his rival for Elizabeth, to respect their engagement or he will kill him when he returns. Myra, fun-loving wife of Major Otto Grunwald, is in love with Stiner, and although she knows he prefers Elizabeth, helps him plot against Chad. Meanwhile, Chad sails up the treacherous Missouri river with an infantry company commanded by Colonel Randall, who is bringing his beautiful Spanish wife, Isabella. Chad doubts Randall's ability as a leader. As the river boat makes its way slowly upriver to Indian territory, Zack Cubberly, a weather-beaten scout for the Army, tells Chad what to expect from the warlike Sioux.

CHAPTER 7

ALVIN STINER did not see Elizabeth for more than a month after Chad Endicott left St. Louis on the Molly McClain. He was out of town on a business trip to Omaha part of that time. Now that winter had made its last futile gesture, wagon trains were moving westward to supply the army posts on the plains. This was a large portion of Stiner's business, and he fulfilled each contract with meticulous care.

The Indian trade furnished ample opportunities to double the profit he was entitled to make, but he had been careful in his dealings with the army, so careful that he actually lost money on some contracts. That, more than anything else, was the reason he had General Tipton's complete confidence.

Myra had been right in saying he didn't have the slightest idea what it was like to love someone the way Elizabeth and Chad loved each other, but he had a very good idea how Elizabeth would react if he started pushing his case the instant Chad was gone.

He would be a friend, a gentle and unselfish friend. It was part of his plan to remain completely away from the Tiptons until Elizabeth had adjusted herself.

She was young and filled with too much energy to remain listlessly at home. If Stiner read her correctly, the time would come when she would be glad to get away from the four walls of her home, to have someone to talk to who knew Chad.

Stiner had learned long ago that the easy things a man wanted could be bought with money.

The cheap women in the Red Candle; men from the water front who were excellent marksmen with either steel blade or pistol. But Stiner had reached the point where the easy things were not enough. He wanted his own house instead of the rooms he occupied on Garrison Avenue, a wife and children. And more than anything else, he wanted to be welcomed on every level of society, Elizabeth, better than any other young woman in St. Louis, fitted his requirements for a wife.

Near the end of May he called at the Tipton house. When Nero opened the door, he asked, "Is the General in?"

"No, suh," Nero said. "The General probably won't be home for an hour. Will you come in and wait?"

Stiner hesitated, then asked, "Is Miss Elizabeth home? I would like to speak with her if she is."

"She's in her room," Nero said. "I'll call her."

Stiner waited in the hall. Elizabeth appeared at the head of the stairs, calling, "Why, Alvin, this is a pleasant surprise." She started to run down the stairs, but stopped when Stiner held up a hand. He said, "Stand there, Elizabeth, right where you are."

She was wearing a light summer dress of blue organdie with pink roses on the flounces, and just as she had started down the stairs he had glimpsed her slender legs and trim ankles. By sheer coincidence, she stopped where the sunlight, falling through a stained-glass window in the west wall, laid its myriad colors upon her so that she gave the startling effect of being part of a rainbow.

"What is it, Alvin?" she asked. He took a deep breath. "You're beautiful, Elizabeth, as beautiful as a fairy floating to earth on a rainbow." He laughed. "Come on down. I just had to stop you there and take a long look."

He saw that she was both pleased and a little flustered by what he had said. When she reached the hall, she said, "Thank you, Alvin. That was a nice thing to say."

He took her arm and, turning her, pointed to where the sunlight fell on the wall. "That's where you were. You see why I thought you were floating down a rainbow?"

She drew away from him, and he knew he had made a mistake in touching her. "Won't you come into the parlor?"

"I just dropped in to see the General, but Nero tells me he hasn't come home yet. Do you know if he'll be busy tonight?"

"I'm sure he isn't," she said. "I'll drop in around eight," he said, "if you think it will be all right."

"He'd be delighted, Alvin. He was saying the other day he hadn't seen you since the night we had the party for Chad."

"I've been out of town." He turned to the door and paused. "Have you heard from Chad?"

She nodded. "I was just reading a letter from him. I mean, re-reading it for the twentieth time. He had written to me every day, just another page or two, you know, telling about the things he sees, and all. By the time they threw off a mail sack at Omaha, it had become quite lengthy."

"It's well, I hope."

"He was when he wrote." She hesitated, worry pinching her face. "Of course they hadn't reached the Indian country. Do you think there's any danger, Alvin? They don't have a fort to go to. They've got to build everything."

"I wish I could tell you there was no danger," he said finally. "But I know the Sioux. The amount of river travel we're going to have this summer will bother them. Anything can happen. But Chad knew that. A man who joins the army is not afraid of danger."

"But I am," she breathed. "For him. You'd think I'd get used to it, after four years of war."

"No," he said. "A woman never gets used to danger when it concerns the man she loves."

She gave him a small smile. "You're very kind, Alvin—and understanding. Most men aren't. Even Daddy gets impatient with me. He says danger is part of soldiering and Chad's a good soldier."

"Which isn't much comfort, is it?" he said. "Well, I have to go. Will you tell the General I'll drop by tonight?"

"Of course."

He left then, quite satisfied with the way it had gone. He wondered if the feeling he had for her was love. The thought troubled him, for he never trusted emotion.

The Boards of Education of the City of New York are having a difficult time keeping Communists out of the school system no matter how much harm the Communists may do to the students and to the country. In the instance of the Board of Higher Education, the courts have intervened to give protection and comfort to the Communists; in the instance of the Board of Education, James E. Allen, Jr., Commissioner of Education of the State of New York, has intervened on grounds that seem, at best, to be dubious.

TOO MUCH AT STAKE
CONSUMER resistance to rising prices is reported to be under way to some degree. But there are more price rises to come. Increased overseas aid is already being felt. Steel, in increasing demand, will probably advance in price, particularly in view of automatic wage increases that are written into labor contracts. Price increases have already occurred in rayon, carpets and plywood. A freight rate increase has been authorized. As a result of the Middle Eastern embargo, pressure of demand on U. S. oil has increased substantially. Crude has increased in price, and gasoline and other oil products are being marked up. Above-ground reserves of crude are expected to decrease by from 1 to 2 million barrels a week for at least several months. The purchasing power of the U. S. dollar, now just a shade over 50 cents on the basis of the 100-cent dollar of 1939, will inevitably shrink further. Should that cause consumers to lessen their buying, a decision on remedies for the wage-price spiral will be inescapable. There is too much at stake in the nation's economy to permit inflation to eat interminably at its vitals.

B52 NOT OBSOLETE
A NUMBER OF Washington news items recently have hinted that the B52 Stratofortress is already obsolete though production has barely started. Intimations have been that Russia has defenses for the superbombers, or that in a few years intercontinental guided missiles will put such bombers out of business. Perhaps the most reliable commentary comes from News Week Magazine which notes: "Despite claims that the B52 is fast flying into obsolescence, the Air Force is not freezing its design. In fact, improvements are now being made to make it higher, faster and a poorer target. "Strategic Air Command brass believe the B52 will give the U. S. good retaliatory protection for five years. By then, they hope, the intercontinental guided missile should be perfected." Seen in this light, the B52's importance remains unchallenged. Until the ICBM is completed—and towering problems remain in the way—the B52 is the nation's primary shield against Russian aggression. If it is only an interim weapon, that makes it no less important. Wars are not won by weapons not yet built, no matter how good.

REAPPORTIONMENT MOVE
AN OKLAHOMA case of portent for citizens of other states is headed for the United States Supreme Court. The nation's highest court has reportedly accepted for full review a suit which attempted to force the Oklahoma legislature to reapportion the state for legislative representation. In the past the Supreme Court has refused to take such cases, apparently fearing that this would be federal interference in a state's business and a blow to states' rights. Some commentators fear it is significant that the court is now accepting such a case.

To Be President, Go Fishing

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A wise mother will teach her boy to fish right now if she hopes later in life he'll angle for an address at the White House, Washington, D. C. The odds are heavy against the lad who hasn't at least learned to dangle a worm in water at the end of a pole. A majority of U. S. Presidents, from Dwight Eisenhower right on back to George Washington, member of the first sport fishing club formed in North America, have been more or less ardent followers of Izaak Walton. The voters elected 14 consecutive fishing Presidents, but never have elected three non-fishermen in a row. Calvin Coolidge bowed to tradition and apparently became a fisherman after his election. Grover Cleveland, one of a number of Presidents criticized for spending too much time fishing, replied: "Every patriotic, thoughtful citizen, whether he fishes or not, should lament that we have not among our countrymen more fishermen." Commented President Herbert Hoover: "The American people have respect for privacy only on two occasions: One of them is praying and the other is fishing, and the President can't pray all the time." President Eisenhower's tip: "Caution is the most valuable asset in fishing, especially if you are the fish." # Mrs. Spicer Gives History Of Land Grants To DAR

26 Attend Meet In Steele Home

Tuesday evening, in the home of Mrs. Dwight Steele of S. Court St., 26 members of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, DAR listened to the history of the Ohio Land Grants as delivered by Mrs. Emerson Spicer. Her paper will later be submitted for placement in the DAR Filing and Lending Library.

Such early tracts as the Congress Lands, Connecticut Western Reserve, Canal Lands and School Lands were discussed from the viewpoints of historical antecedents and the subsequent development and disposal of the lands by the immigration pattern.

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787, important to the settlement of the western lands, although it was not until the Greenville Treaty of 1795 that the Indian domination was broken and the settlers were freed from the menace of Indian harrassments.

During the Revolutionary War British troops under the command of General Benedict Arnold raided and burned several towns in Connecticut. As a result this state in 1792 set aside for these "sufferers by fire" a section of land called the Fire Lands.

The Ministerial Lands of the Ohio Company and Symmes Purchase have the distinction of being the only locations in the United States which were designated by Congress for the support of religion, unwittingly negating the fond principle of the Founding Fathers concerning the separation of church and state.

After Mrs. Spicer had completed her reading, the Regent, Miss Marie Hamilton, displayed to the group an original deed to land in the Virginia Military Tract, that had been granted to John Fulton and was signed by President James Madison.

Miss Mary Heffner read the January message of the President General, Mrs. Leslie Groves, who declared "May we, as descendants of patriots, accept the burden of freedom, lest we lose the spirit of hungry, whose only sin was giving liberty too well."

The chairman of National Defense, Miss Ruth Montelius, spoke on the efforts of UNESCO to publicize and popularize the system of World Government by diversification and uncontroversial sentiments of international understanding and good will.

Miss Florence Dunton read an article prepared by Mrs. H. O. Pile "Popular Songs of The Revolution." The Star Spangled Banner, written as a poem in 1814 was not decreed as the National Anthem until a presidential directive in 1916. Congress finalized the act in 1931.

The Regent directed the Secretary, Mrs. F. Croman, to read letters of appreciation received from the State Regent, Mrs. Arthur Davis for credos sent to her, and from Chillicothe Indian School in Oklahoma, acknowledging students at Christmas time.

Appreciation was expressed to gifts that were sent to the Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger, chairman of Student Loan and Scholarship committee, for her check, presented for the purpose of the committee.

An announcement was made to the members that the grave of Ellen Dalton Tibbs, the nurse who cared for young Willie Lincoln, President Lincoln's favorite son, may be located in Forest Cemetery. The members voted to conduct a careful search into the matter and if verified, to support citizens movement to properly honor the grave.

Miss Hamilton announced the creation of two new committees: Mrs. Steele, Mrs. W. Hedges, and Mrs. Harry McGhee were appointed to the committee for place of meeting; Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Orion King and Mrs. Pile to serve on a special committee to write the history of the local DAR chapter.

The membership voted acquiescence to the selection of the following to represent the Chapter at the National and State Conference, to be held in Washington D.C. and Dayton, respectively. Delegates to national conference— Miss Hamilton and Mrs. R. R. Bales; alternates— Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. Paul H. Gearhart, Mrs. W. L. Mack, Miss Florence Dunton. Delegates to state conference— Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Bales, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson; alternates— Mrs. F. Croman, Mrs. Robert Knode, Mrs. Charles May, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Clarence McAbee.

Mrs. Steele served refreshments, assisted by the ladies of her committee: Mrs. G. I. Nickerson, Mrs. Bales, Mrs. Ben Notstine, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. George Roth, Mrs. J. C. Hansen, Mrs. McClure Hughes and Mrs. J. W. Henry.

The Chapter cordially invites the Regent, Vice-Regent and at least two members from each of our neighboring chapters to be present at the next meeting, the afternoon of February 19 in the Presbyterian Church. This will be the annual Tea and Guest Day.

Panel Discussion Highlights Meet Of Couples Cub

Mrs. Spicer Gives History Of Land Grants To DAR

26 Attend Meet In Steele Home

Tuesday evening, in the home of Mrs. Dwight Steele of S. Court St., 26 members of the Pickaway Plains Chapter, DAR listened to the history of the Ohio Land Grants as delivered by Mrs. Emerson Spicer. Her paper will later be submitted for placement in the DAR Filing and Lending Library.

Such early tracts as the Connecticut Western Reserve, Canal Lands and School Lands were discussed from the viewpoints of historical antecedents and the subsequent development and disposal of the lands by the immigration pattern.

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787, important to the settlement of the western lands, although it was not until the Greenville Treaty of 1795 that the Indian domination was broken and the settlers were freed from the menace of Indian harassments.

During the Revolutionary War British troops under the command of General Benedict Arnold raided and burned several towns in Connecticut. As a result this state in 1792 set aside for these "sufferers by fire" a section of land called the Fire Lands.

The Ministerial Lands of the Ohio Company and Symmes Purchase have the distinction of being the only locations in the United States which were designated by Congress for the support of religion, unwittingly negating the fond principle of the Founding Fathers concerning the separation of church and state.

After Mrs. Spicer had completed her reading, the Regent, Miss Marie Hamilton, displayed to the group an original deed to land in the Virginia Military Tract, that had been granted to John Fulton and was signed by President James Madison.

Miss Mary Heffner read the January message of the President General, Mrs. Leslie Groves, who declared "May we, as descendants of patriots, accept the burden of freedom, lest we lose the spirit of liberty, whose only sin was being too free."

The chairman of National Defense, Miss Ruth Montelius, spoke on the efforts of UNESCO to publicize and popularize the system of World Government by diversionary and uncontroverted sentiments of international understanding and good will.

Miss Florence Dunton read an article prepared by Mrs. H. O. Pile "Popular Songs Of The Revolution." The Star Spangled Banner, written as a poem in 1814 was not decreed as the National Anthem until a presidential directive in 1916. Congress finalized the act in 1931.

The Regent directed the Secretary, Mrs. F. Croman, to read letters of appreciation received from the State Regent, Mrs. Arthur Davis for credos sent to her, and from Chillicothe Indian School in Oklahoma, acknowledging students at Christmas time.

Appreciation was expressed by gifts that were sent to the Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger, chairman of Student Loan and Scholarship committee, for her check, presented for the purpose of the committee.

An announcement was made to the members that the grave of Ellen Dalton Tibbs, the nurse who cared for young Willie Lincoln, President Lincoln's favorite son, may be located in Forest Cemetery. The members voted to conduct a careful search into the matter and if verified, to support citizens movement to properly honor the grave.

Miss Hamilton announced the creation of two new committees: Mrs. Steele, Mrs. W. Hedges, and Mrs. Harry McGhee were appointed to the committee for place of meeting; Mrs. Charles May, Mrs. Orion King and Mrs. Pile to serve on a special committee to write the history of the local DAR chapter.

The membership voted acquiescence to the selection of the following to represent the Chapter at the National and State Conference:

es, to be held in Washington D.C. and Dayton, respectively. Delegates to national conference— Miss Hamilton and Mrs. R. R. Bales; alternates— Mrs. Martin Cromley, Mrs. Paul H. Gearhart, Mrs. W. L. Mack, Miss Florence Dunton. Delegates to state conference— Miss Hamilton, Mrs. Bales, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. J. B. Stevenson; alternates— Mrs. F. Croman, Mrs. Robert Knobe, Mrs. Charles May, Miss Florence Hoffman, Mrs. Clarence McAbee.

Mrs. Steele served refreshments, assisted by the ladies of her committee: Mrs. G. I. Nickerson, Mrs. Bales, Mrs. Ben Nothstine, Mrs. Joseph Peters, Mrs. George Roth, Mrs. J. C. Hansen, Mrs. McClure Hughes and Mrs. J. W. Henry.

The Chapter cordially invites the Regent, Vice-Regent and at least two members from each of our neighboring chapters to be present at the next meeting, the afternoon of February 19 in the Presbyterian Church. This will be the annual Tea and Guest Day.

18.17 miles per gallon on North America's toughest truck run!

That's the gas mileage reported by the Cameo Carrier after covering the entire length of the Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! All six new Task-Force trucks that made the run turned in top scores for performance and economy!

Supervised and certified by the AAA.

New Task-Force 57 Chevrolet Trucks

Six heavily loaded Chevy trucks ran all the way up the rugged Alcan Highway in less than 45 hours! That's cutting more than a full day off the normal running time! They ran right around the clock, stopping only to refuel.

But the important fact about this run was that it proved new Chevy trucks through and through. The Alcan Highway is a supreme test of every truck component. Engines had to prove their power up high-climbing grades and through washouts. Frames and suspensions flexed their muscles over axle-deep ruts and miles of pounding gravel. "And not a single truck turned back or dropped out due to mechanical failure," states the official AAA report of the test. Every model proved its over-all economy by its ironclad ability to stay on the job! Stop by; we'll talk about it.

Choose your model from among Chevrolet's famous economy-proved Alcan Champs! Short-stroke V8's are standard in all heavyweight truck models and in many of the middleweights. They're loaded with modern features and built to take it!

WASHINGTON (AP)—Communist party boss Khrushchev could work on a railroad. He's a national-born switchman. But the switch he pulled Thursday night was another example of the emotionalism and confusion, in the Kremlin.

The Soviet brandy and Chinese wine, flowing freely at a big reception, may account for his reference to "God" and a hereafter in Moscow which is supposed to be the citadel of atheism.

But Khrushchev, who last Feb. 25 denounced Stalin as a mass murderer and mental monster, said: "As a Communist fighting for the interest of the working class, Stalin was a model Communist."

He said this was not inconsistent with what he had said last February. And in a sense it wasn't. For in that speech less than a year ago, a speech which shocked the Communist world, Khrushchev had also said:

"In the past Stalin doubtless performed great services to the party, to the working class, and to the international workers' movement."

So the real switch in Khrushchev's performance Thursday night was not so much in what he said of Stalin as in his attitude toward Stalin. His February speech was mainly denunciation, with a fragment of praise. Thursday night it was almost all praise, although far briefer.

"In the things that counted, that is, the interest of the working class as Stalin did," he said.

Noting later that some of those present might not want to join him in the toasts he proposed to the Chinese Communists, he said, pointing heavenward: "If you do not, it will be counted against you in the final reckoning up there."

The fact that he shifted his attitude toward Stalin is evidence of the impulsive and all-considered attack he made on the dead leader in 1956 and that now he and his friends in the Kremlin think it necessary to change their tactics.

When Stalin died, those who took over were heirs to a myth: the whole Communist world, inside and outside Russia, had been trained to regard Stalin as the infallible fount of goodness and wisdom.

His heirs, to do their job, needed devotion to themselves. The memory of Stalin stood in their way. That was one good reason for trying to demolish his image. But there was another.

In the new phase of the cold war, with the "spirit of Geneva" still pervading the world, they were anxious to erase the memories of the ferocity and barbarisms of Stalin in order to make communism seem more palatable.

But they did it so suddenly that they didn't take time to prepare Communists inside or outside Russia for this startling reversal.

The result: a series of explosions inside Russia itself, in the satellites, and in the Communist parties around the world.

These events caused Russia more loss of leadership and control of world communism than Stalin had suffered in all the years between the 1920s, when he took command, and 1953 when he died.

Stalin's heirs had to do an about face or, perhaps, face disaster through a continued loss of control. One method, apparently the only one which seems possible, was to reinstitute the iron rigidity of Stalin's day.

What Khrushchev did Thursday night was to try to rejustify Stalin, a first step toward a return to Stalinism.

The masters of the Kremlin have been credited with coolness and shrewdness and of knowing always where they were going. The events of this past year do not wear out this picture of them.

Deaf Mutes Freed In 'Slavery' Case

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—A deaf and dumb couple was cleared Thursday of charges of holding another deaf mute in bondage.

Justice Francis A. Castellucci dismissed charges against Robert Lee Merritt, 33, and Mrs. Marguerite Rood, 35, both of suburban St. Clair Shores, Mich. They were accused of holding John LeJeune, 25, of Fremont, Ohio, in involuntary servitude.

Castellucci ruled LeJeune was unable to communicate while he was on the witness stand. The jurist concurred in a prosecutor's motion for dismissal.

The defendants were accused of holding LeJeune in bondage in the Rood home and taking the money he had made peddling sewing packages in the St. Clair Shores area.

Toscanini Proved Volatile, But Was Master Musician

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of articles concerning the career of Arturo Toscanini who died this week.

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP)—What Arturo Toscanini's vast audiences heard about was the fury that boiled up in him at imperfections in performance. . . .

Or the way he bawled out his hapless players . . . or the way batons would sometimes slip out of his grasp and fly into the orchestra. . . .

But what his audiences heard in fact was some of the crispest, most dramatic and most satisfying music, orchestral and operatic, supplied by any conductor of the century.

When Toscanini, the master maestro of them all, died Wednesday two months short of 90, he already had lived long enough to become a legend, or even several legends.

Great music went with the great man. The flareups and the temperament went with the genius.

Genius was a word which, as it happened, he hated to have applied to himself. He did not like to be called interpreter either. He was a reader of scores. He stuck to the music that composers provided.

They repaid him with chances rarely given to conductors. He did, for instance, the world premieres of Verdi's "Otello," Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and Puccini's "La Boheme," and he introduced Wagner's "Gottterdammerung" to Italy.

It was just 70 years ago, in 1886, that he conducted for the first time, at the age of 19. It was in Rio de Janeiro, where the aspiring Toscanini was cellist and assistant choral conductor of a touring Italian company. The scheduled Brazilian conductor and then the Italian ran afoul of both singers and audience. In the crisis Toscanini was called out by the cast because, as they cried, "he knows all the operas by heart."

"Aida" was the opera on that occasion. Toscanini accepted the incident as routine, went back to his cello, said nothing of his feat when he returned to Italy. But the excited word got around that an exceptionally gifted young man was available for conducting jobs, and he took several in smaller cities. They led to his first chance at famed La Scala, in Milan, in 1896, with the orchestra, and in 1898 with opera.

He had no time for anything but music. It was his idol, and he sacrificed everything to it. He was equipped with not only a phenomenal memory, but a phenomenal ear. During one of his seasons of conducting at the Metropolitan Opera, he heard a wrong note sounded by one of the violins, and he called the musician to account—he could do that vociferously and loudly.

But the musician showed him the note in his score. Toscanini at once sent to the opera library for another part, and the violinist discovered that he had been sounding that note incorrectly for years.

Next: Path to greatness. . . .

X-Radiation Seen Harmful

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Radiation from an atomic explosion is "comparatively mild" next to radiation from X-ray and fluoroscope machines used by physicians, Ohio doctors were told Thursday.

Dr. William G. Myers, a faculty member at Ohio State University's college of medicine, said X-rays and fluoroscopic radiation are far more harmful than atomic fallout.

Dr. Myers told an Ohio regional meeting of the American College of Physicians and Surgeons that the danger of radiation is not its effect on exposed individuals, but in the harm it may cause their descendants.

"The effects may not manifest themselves for 40 generations," he said. Geneticists appear to agree that overexposure to radiation lowers birth rates and increases death rates, Dr. Myers said.

When Toscanini, the master maestro of them all, died Wednesday two months short of 90, he already had lived long enough to become a legend, or even several legends.

Great music went with the great man. The flareups and the temperament went with the genius.

Genius was a word which, as it happened, he hated to have applied to himself. He did not like to be called interpreter either. He was a reader of scores. He stuck to the music that composers provided.

They repaid him with chances rarely given to conductors. He did, for instance, the world premieres of Verdi's "Otello," Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" and Puccini's "La Boheme," and he introduced Wagner's "Götterdämmerung" to Italy.

It was just 70 years ago, in 1886, that he conducted for the first time, at the age of 19. It was in Rio de Janeiro, where the aspiring Toscanini was cellist and assistant choral conductor of a touring Italian company. The scheduled Brazilian conductor and then the Italian ran afoul of both singers and audience. In the crisis Toscanini was called out by the cast because, as they cried, "he knows all the operas by heart." "Aida" was the opera on that occasion. Toscanini accepted the incident as routine, went back to his cello, said nothing of his feat when he returned to Italy. But the excited word got around that an exceptionally gifted young man was available for conducting jobs, and he took several in smaller cities. They led to his first chance at famed La Scala, in Milan, in 1896, with the orchestra, and in 1898 with opera.

He had no time for anything but music. It was his idol, and he sacrificed everything to it. He was equipped with not only a phenomenal memory, but a phenomenal ear. During one of his seasons of conducting at the Metropolitan Opera, he heard a wrong note sounded by one of the violins, and he called the musician to account—he could do that vociferously and loudly.

But the musician showed him the note in his score. Toscanini at once sent to the opera library for another part, and the violinist discovered that he had been

X-Radiation Seen Harmful

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Radiation from an atomic explosion is "comparatively mild" next to radiation from X-ray and fluoroscope machines used by physicians, Ohio doctors were told Thursday.

Dr. William G. Myers, a faculty member at Ohio State University's college of medicine, said X-rays and fluoroscopic radiation are far more harmful than atomic fallout. Dr. Myers told an Ohio regional meeting of the American College of Physicians and Surgeons that the danger of radiation is not its effect on exposed individuals, but in the harm it may cause their descendants.

"The effects may not manifest themselves for 40 generations," he said. Geneticists appear to agree that overexposure to radiation lowers birth rates and increases death rates, Dr. Myers said.

Higher Newspaper Price Is Labeled As Necessary Move

BOSTON (AP)—William Dwight, editor of the Holyoke Telegram and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., says "the trend towards the 42-cent newspaper will increase now that the newsprint manufacturers are heaping another price increase on us."

Delivering an address at a dinner meeting of the New England Assn. of Circulation Managers, Dwight said:

"This new $4 a ton jump in newsprint price means an extraction of $28 million annually from American newspapers. The newspapers simply cannot absorb all of this." He said a 42-cent price

"shouldn't be difficult for the product is worth more than that. The public can be counted on to pay for value."

Oak Ridge Strike Accord Reached

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP)—A two-day work stoppage of union construction workers at atomic energy plants ended Thursday.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said the construction workers returned to their jobs after agreement was reached that their protest against hiring of non-union labor would be laid before AEC officials and H. K. Ferguson Co., prime contractor here.

More than 1,400 workmen failed to report for work Tuesday and Wednesday.

Lake County Ag Dispute Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Lake County Agricultural Society apparently will have to settle an election dispute before it can get further county aid.

A. K. Sorensen, state agricultural director, said he cannot authorize financial aid to the society if it keeps its present set of officers.

William Mahon of Willoughby complained new members were signed up by the society on election day. The society's bylaws, Mahon said, state that new members cannot be signed up within 15 days of an election.

High Court Studies Pro Football Status

Antitrust Violations Being Pondered By Nation's Top Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professional football's freedom from federal antitrust laws rested with the Supreme Court today.

The court heard arguments Thursday in a session highlighted by Chief Justice Warren's discussion of the reserve clause used in professional sports contracts.

The suit raising the point was brought by William Radovich of North Hollywood, Calif., a former lineman for the University of Southern California and the Detroit Lions of the National Football League. He charged the league with violating antitrust laws.

District and circuit courts in San Francisco threw out Radovich's suit for $105,000 in damages from the league and some of its member clubs. Radovich, now a retail grocer, contended he was blacklisted for jumping in 1946 from the Lions to the Los Angeles Rams for the now-extinct All America Conference. He said this prevented him from landing a job with the minor league San Francisco Clippers.

Radovich charged the NFL seeks to monopolize professional football. But the lower federal courts, in dismissing his suit, held that football, like baseball, is entitled to exemption from the antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has so ruled in the case of baseball.

In arguing that Radovich's suit should be allowed to come to trial, attorney Maxwell Keith of San Francisco said the NFL victimized Radovich in the course of what Keith said was a planned effort to bring about "suppression and ruin" of the All America league.

But Bernard I. Nordlinger of Washington, representing the NFL, told the court "the league may very well be destroyed" if the high tribunal orders Radovich's suit tried.

Fay Crocker Gives Self Penalty

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Fay Crocker, first round leader in the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament, had to share the spotlight with a golfer who took 32 strokes more than she did Thursday.

That golfer was Mickey Wright. The reason she stood out was a record penalty of 24 strokes assessed when she called herself for carrying an extra club.

The tall, pleasant young lady from San Diego, who won the Sea found herself almost out of sight Island Tournament Sunday, thus with a 104 instead of being in the running for a second straight victory, as had been expected.

Changes Coming Too Late In U. S. Wildlife Program?

Editor's Note: Following is the last of five articles dealing with the nation's wildlife conservation program.

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer Wildlife managers long have had a pretty good idea why they couldn't capture headlines — and hence the fancy of the general public; They couldn't get a score into the first paragraph of every ecological report.

But now suddenly they have vaulted into the major leagues, statistically speaking. A national survey has produced the news — though it's no news to the fish and game men — that they're running the largest recreational operation in the United States.

There were 25 million hunters and fishermen in this country last year. This year will add nearly another million. Next year another. The figure includes only hunters and fishermen, not the countless other millions of boaters, swimmers, hikers, campers, nature students and to her hobbyists.

And while outdoorsmen have been confounded in the past by demands — the inquisitors ranging from congressional committees to local sports editors — to put a fair price on the value that sight of a high-winged flight of geese, or the feel of a marsh at sunrise has for a man, the firm figure of $2,850,979,000 out-of-pocket expense last year by rod and gun participants makes an impressive response.

Already there are indications that the quantitative establishment of field and streams sports at the head of the recreational standings may bring a change in the public and political climate around wildlife management.

Secretary Seaton, has ordered preliminary planning for a program of vast expenditures over the long haul — 10 years, as a start.

Two of the goals will be to solve problems of destructive drainage threatening marshes and wetlands for waterfowl and to initiate a planned program of land acquisition to meet federal and state needs in wildlife management.

"The growing demand for opportunities to fish and hunt at a time when those opportunities seem to be diminishing must be met head on," Seaton said.

Some observers have pessimistic predictions for the outcome, even under optimum conditions. But wildlife management is a young science, with towering accomplishments in learning behind it.

Towering accomplishments must lie ahead, as well. Productivity of the wildlife resource must be doubled within 30 years. It means production of wildlife as a crop — not only on primary wildlife lands, but as a secondary crop on agricultural lands. And this means that some former Communist. The proposal by the Commission that this method is unnecessary because the Board may call in any persons, deprives the Board, your Honor, of this first clue.

This emphasis on the first clue is important because obviously without it, nothing can be known although much can be guessed at. Children come home from school with curious ideas about the inferiority of the United States and one assumes that the child picked up some queer notions from a screwball, but it is impossible for a parent to know what a deep impression is being made upon the child's mind by some teacher who ridicules the tradition and folkways of this country. It is only natural for a child to assume that the teacher knows what he or she is talking about.

Further, Brown said: "...as I have already indicated, 325 school personnel identified and so identified by former Communists in this kind of inquiry are no longer in the school system of New York City. The difference between identification and mere inquiry, your Honor, to this, I would point out if I may, that the method employed by the Board makes available the vital first clue in an investigation that is, the identity of the person who was, in fact, a

'Tiger' Jones Eyes Future Title Bout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, rated No. 3 among middle-weight contenders, is looking beyond tonight's fight at Cleveland Public Music Hall toward a possible chance at the title some time this year.

Jones, who lost to Gene Fullmer in a close fight last April, will be facing Hardy Smallwood of Brooklyn in tonight's 10-round nationally televised bout.

Jones wants another crack at Fullmer, who took the middle-weight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson some nine months after his fight with Jones here. Tiger says he gave Fullmer "just about all he was able to handle" last April.

Cincy Frosh Cager Runs High Score

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oscar Robertson, the Indiana basketball sensation grabbed off by the University of Cincinnati, is well on his way toward a UC freshman scoring record. In the first five freshman games Robertson is averaging 32 points a game.

Phil Wheeler, now with the Peoria Caterpillars of the National Industrial Basketball League, set the old UC freshman record of 21.2 points a game.

Walcott Says Rocky Tougher Than Louis

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — The man who fought them both twice says Rocky Marciano was a harder puncher than Joe Louis.

"I should add, though," said Jersey Joe Walcott, "that they were two different types of punchers. Marciano could knock you kicking with one punch but he had to get his shot — get you set up right if you see what I mean. Louis was more dangerous with either hand. He'd set you up with one type of punch and chill you with another. Louis had more polish and could flurry better. But, speaking strictly of hard punching, once Rocky got you where he wanted you, good night!"

Joe, who won the title by knocking out Ezzard Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh on July 18, 1951 and lost it to Marciano at Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1952, grinned broadly:

"I ought to know, don't you think?" said old Joe, now a wrestling referee.

Marciano stopped Jersey Joe, in the eastern division.

St. Louis Hawks Chalking Gains

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks still are in fourth place in the western division of the National Basketball Assn. but two victories in as many nights put them right back into the thick of the scrap.

The Hawks followed up Wednesday's triumph over Rochester with a 106-82 victory over Ft. Wayne's Pistons Thursday night to move within two games of the front running Pistons.

The St. Louis-Ft. Wayne game was followed by Syracuse's 108-103 triumph over the Warriors. Meanwhile, New York edged Minneapolis 94-93 to move past the Warriors into second place back of Boston in the eastern division.

Bradley '5' Looms As Big Cage Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — Tabbed as the "dark horse" of its conference early in the season, Bradley is running ahead of the Missouri Valley basketball pack today.

Upsetting its opponents' stalling tactics, Bradley rallied to defeat Houston 81-64 Thursday night to lift its pace-setting conference mark to 5-0. On the year, the 12th-ranked Braves are 12-2.

Midterm examinations have put the college schedule at a comparative standstill.

The Kansas Jayhawks, top-rated in this week's Associated Press poll, are idle until Feb. 2 when they will attempt to gain revenge for last Monday's 39-37 setback by Iowa State.

Bradley used a full court press to stop Houston's stalling game. Houston took a 2-0 lead at the start and then held the ball for about two minutes. The Braves went into the press and shot into a 45-28 halftime lead.

Houston lost two starters, Dean Evans and Russ Boone, on personal fouls early in the second half and Bradley upped its advantage to 74-52. Joe Billy McDade, with 17 points, and Gene Morse, with 14, paced the Braves' attack. Both are sophomores.

Briton Sets Pace In Tijuana Test

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Long hitting Harry Weetman of England and three American professionals led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament today.

Weetman, 35, Mike Souchak, the 1956 winner, Julius Boros and a longshot, Len Kennett of Camp Pendleton, Calif. Marine Base, put in strong bids to win some money.

Game Change Set

Walnut Township's cage contest with Unio, previously set for Saturday night, has been rescheduled for Tuesday night.

High Court Studies Pro Football Status

Antitrust Violations Being Pondered By Nation's Top Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Professional football's freedom from federal antitrust laws rested with the Supreme Court today.

The court heard arguments Thursday in a session highlighted by Chief Justice Warren's discussion of the reserve clause used in professional sports contracts.

The suit raising the point was brought by William Radovich of North Hollywood, Calif., a former linebacker for the University of Southern California and the Detroit Lions of the National Football League. He charged the league with violating antitrust laws.

District and circuit courts in San Francisco threw out Radovich's suit for $105,000 in damages from the league and some of its member clubs. Radovich, now a retail grocer, contended he was blacklisted for jumping in 1946 from the Lions to the Los Angeles Rams for the now-extinct All America Conference. He said this prevented him from landing a job with the minor league San Francisco Clippers.

Radovich charged the NFL seeks to monopolize professional football. But the lower federal courts, in dismissing his suit, held that football, like baseball, is entitled to exemption from the antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has so ruled in the case of baseball.

In arguing that Radovich's suit should be allowed to come to trial, attorney Maxwell Keith of San Francisco said the NFL victimized Radovich in the course of what Keith said was a planned effort to bring about "suppression and ruin" of the All America league.

But Bernard I. Nordlinger of Washington, representing the NFL, told the court "the league may very well be destroyed" if the high tribunal orders Radovich's suit tried.

Fay Crocker Gives Self Penalty

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Fay Crocker, first round leader in the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament, had to share the spotlight with a golfer who took 32 strokes more than she did Thursday.

That golfer was Mickey Wright. The reason she stood out was a record penalty of 24 strokes assessed when she called herself for carrying an extra club.

The tall, pleasant young lady from San Diego, who won the Sea found herself almost out of sight Island Tournament Sunday, thus with a 104 instead of being in the running for a second straight victory, as had been expected.

Changes Coming Too Late In U. S. Wildlife Program?

Editor's Note: Following is the last of five articles dealing with the nation's wildlife conservation program.

By DION HENDERSON

Associated Press Staff Writer

Wildlife managers long have had a pretty good idea why they couldn't capture headlines — and hence the fancy of the general public: They couldn't get a score into the first paragraph of every ecological report.

But now suddenly they have vaulted into the major leagues, statistically speaking. A national survey has produced the news — though it's no news to the fish and game men — that they're running the United States.

There were 25 million hunters and fishermen in this country last year. This year will add nearly another million. Next year another. The figure includes only hunters and fishermen, not the countless other millions of boaters, swimmers, hikers, campers, nature students and to her hobbyists.

And while outdoorsmen have been confounded in the past by demands — the inquisitors ranging from congressional committees to local sports editors — to put a fair price on the value that sight of a high-winged flight of geese, or the feel of a marsh at sunrise has for a man, the firm figure of $2,850,979,000 out-of-pocket expense last year by rod and gun participants makes an impressive response.

Already there are indications that the quantitative establishment of field and streams sports at the head of the recreational standings may bring a change in the public and political climate around wildlife management.

Secretary Seaton, has ordered preliminary planning for a program of vast expenditures over the long haul — 10 years, as a start.

Two of the goals will be to solve problems of destructive drainage threatening marshes and wetlands for waterfowl and to initiate a planned program of land acquisition to meet federal and state needs in wildlife management.

"The growing demand for opportunities to fish and hunt at a time when those opportunities seem to be diminishing must be met head on," Seaton said.

Some observers have pessimistic predictions for the outcome, even under optimum conditions. But wildlife management is a young science, with towering accomplishments in learning behind it.

Towering accomplishments must lie ahead, as well.

Productivity of the wildlife resource must be doubled within 30 years. It means production of wildlife as a crop — not only on primary wildlife lands, but as a secondary crop on agricultural lands. And this means that some former Communist. The proposal by the Commission that this method is unnecessary because the Board may call in any persons, deprives the Board, your Honor, of this first clue.

This emphasis on the first clue is important because obviously without it, nothing can be known although much can be guessed at. Children come home from school with curious ideas about the inferiority of the United States and one assumes that the child picked up some queer notions from a screwball, but it is impossible for a parent to know what a deep impression is being made upon the child's mind by some teacher who ridicules the tradition and folkways of this country. It is only natural for a child to assume that the teacher knows what he or she is talking about.

'Tiger' Jones Eyes Future Title Bout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ralph (Tiger) Jones, rated No. 3 among middleweight contenders, is looking before tonight's fight at Cleveland Public Music Hall toward a possible chance at the title some time this year.

Jones, who lost to Gene Fullmer in a close fight last April, will be facing Hardy Smallwood of Brooklyn in tonight's 10-round nationally televised bout.

Jones wants another crack at Fullmer, who took the middleweight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson some nine months after his fight with Jones here. Tiger says he gave Fullmer "just about all he was able to handle" last April.

Cincy Frosh Cager Runs High Score

CINCINNATI (AP) — Oscar Robertson, the Indiana basketball sensation grabbed off by the University of Cincinnati, is well on his way toward a UC freshman scoring record. In the first five freshman games Robertson is averaging 32 points a game.

Phil Wheeler, now with the Peoria Catbirds of the National Industrial Basketball League, set the old UC freshman record of 21.2 points a game.

Walcott Says Rocky Tougher Than Louis

JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — The man who fought them both twice says Rocky Marciano was a harder puncher than Joe Louis.

"I should add, though," said Jersey Joe Walcott, "that they were two different types of punchers. Marciano could knock you kicking with one punch but he had to get his shot — get you set up right if you see what I mean. Louis was more dangerous with either hand. He'd set you up with one type of punch and chill you with another. Louis had more polish and could flurry better. But, speaking strictly of hard punching, once Rocky got you where he wanted you, good night!"

Joe, who won the title by knocking out Ezzard Charles in the seventh round at Pittsburgh on July 18, 1951 and lost it to Marciano at Philadelphia, Sept. 23, 1952, grinned broadly:

"I ought to know, don't you think?" said old Joe, now a wrestling referee.

Marciano stopped Jersey Joe, born Arnold Raymond Cream, in the 13th of their first meeting and in the opening round of their controversial return at Chicago May 15, 1953.

Louis, then champ, took a close decision over Walcott in December, 1947, a climax to Jersey Joe's rags-to-riches comeback after ring retirement.

The Brown Bomber kayaked Joe in the 11th six months later.

Bradley '5' Looms As Big Cage Threat

CHICAGO (AP) — Tabbed as the "dark horse" of its conference early in the season, Bradley is running ahead of the Missouri Valley basketball pack today.

Upsetting its opponents' stalling tactics, Bradley rallied to defeat Houston 81-64 Thursday night to lift its pace-setting conference mark to 5-0. On the year, the 12th-ranked Braves are 12-2.

St. Louis Hawks Chalking Gains

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks still are in fourth place in the western division of the National Basketball Assn. but two victories in as many nights put them right back into the thick of the scrap.

The Hawks followed up Wednesday's triumph over Rochester with a 106-82 victory over Ft. Wayne's Pistons Thursday night to move within two games of the front running Pistons.

The St. Louis-Ft. Wayne game was followed by Syracuse's 108-103 triumph over the Warriors. Meanwhile, New York edged Minneapolis 94-93 to move past the Warriors into second place back of Boston in the eastern division.

Midterm examinations have put the college schedule at a comparative standstill.

The Kansas Jayhawks, top-rated in this week's Associated Press poll, are idle until Feb. 2 when they will attempt to gain revenge for last Monday's 39-37 setback by Iowa State.

Bradley used a full court press to stop Houston's stalling game. Houston took a 2-0 lead at the start and then held the ball for about two minutes. The Braves went into the press and shot into a 45-28 halftime lead.

Houston lost two starters, Dean Evans and Russ Boone, on personal fouls early in the second half and Bradley upped its advantage to 74-52. Joe Billy McDade, with 17 points, and Gene Morse, with 14, paced the Braves' attack. Both are sophomores.

Briton Sets Pace In Tijuana Test

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — Long hitting Harry Weetman of England and three American professionals led the way into the second round of the $15,000 Caliente Open Golf Tournament today.

Weetman, 35, Mike Souchak, the 1956 winner, Julius Boros and a longshot, Len Kennett of Camp Pendleton, Calif. Marine Base, put in strong bids to win some money.

Game Change Set

Walnut Township's cage contest with Union, previously set for Saturday night, has been rescheduled for Tuesday night.

For Hungarian Refugees, U. S. Begins At Big Austrian Camp

Red Cross Has Base Located Near Salzburg

Unfortunates Given Aid To Prepare For Trip To States

America begins at Camp Siezenheim, Austria, four miles outside Salzburg, for thousands of Hungarians who choose exile to remaining where there is "no hope... no future."

Built by the United States Army and turned over to the Austrian government when the four-power occupation ended a few years ago, Camp Siezenheim, today, is one of three such centers run by the American Red Cross as temporary haven for refugees who arrive by foot, train and bus.

The only possessions many have are tattered clothing they wear and a few mementos of another life in another world. These are the ones who wandered aimlessly across Austria for weeks from one makeshift shelter to another and somehow found their way to Siezenheim.

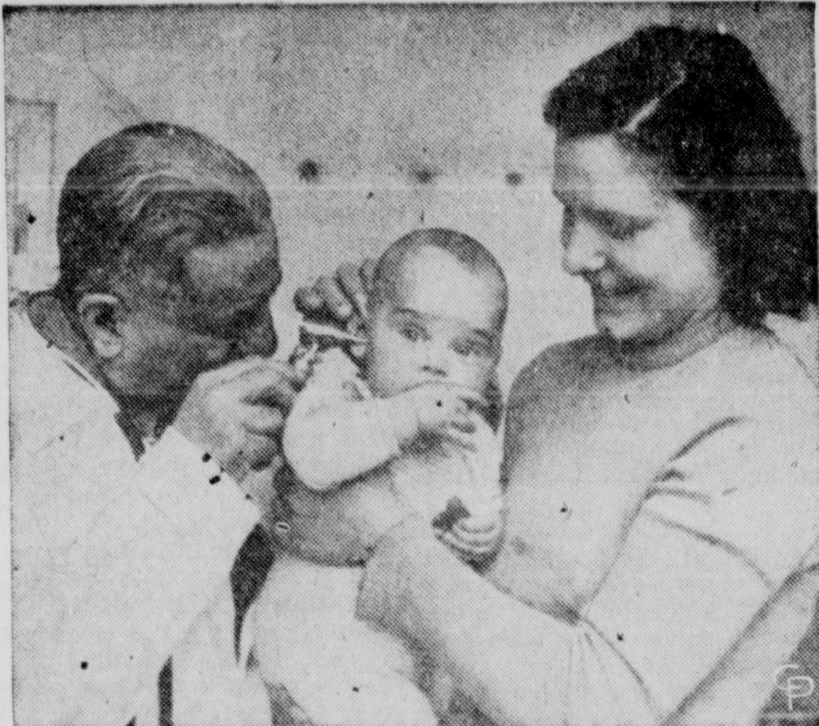

Others more fortunate were taken in hand immediately by the International Red Cross and the camp is the final stop in the orderly progression from the Austro-Hungarian border to the airfield at Munich or the port of Bremerhaven in Germany.

THE CAMP'S population numbers between 6,000 and 7,000 at any one time. The American Red Cross provides them with clothing, toilet articles, meals and medical assistance.

The average length of a refugee's stay at Siezenheim is four days, and the Red Cross provides a recreation program, including movies, to help the Hungarians pass the time until they depart.

Several times each day big buses wheel onto what was the parade ground when this was the U. S. Army's Camp Roeder, pack refugees aboard and head for Munich, a three-hour journey that ends at an airfield and a plane bound for America.

When one of the U. S. Navy transports bringing refugees across the Atlantic is due at Bremerhaven, a train pulls onto a siding at the camp and carries out up to 2,000 refugees.

Those who leave are quickly replaced by new arrivals. One of the toughest operations here for the Red Cross is determining the number who will show up at the next meal.

Paul Murphy, a mass feeding expert on loan to the Red Cross from the U. S. Department of Interior, has worked out a system which can provide meals for 600 unexpected arrivals on an hour's notice.

THESE Hungarians differ from the refugees Europe has seen in the past. They are mostly in their late teens or early twenties. The majority are men, some former members of the Hungarian army and others political prisoners who fled jail early in the revolt.

The women at the camp usually are wives who followed their men, sometimes bringing children with them. Special care is taken to see that families remain together for the trip across the Atlantic.

The refugees need a little time to accustom themselves to their new surroundings. Some, fearful there may not be enough food for the next meal, go through the mess line twice and hoard extra food in the barracks.

After a refugee group moves out, Red Cross workers find stale bread and cheese hidden in bedding or in corners as they clean up the barracks.

"This fear soon leaves, and on the whole I would say they are a very happy people," says James Lebedeff, the camp director. Lebedeff left his post as field director at Stead Air Force Base near Reno to head the Red Cross team that flew to the camp early in December.

His reference to the Hungarians being a happy people is borne out by a walk through the barracks. Music is everywhere. Tables and chairs are pushed aside and the refugees dance polkas to music played on instruments provided by the Red Cross.

MOST OF the refugees are eager to talk about their experiences, but time and again they preface their tale with, "Please, don't use my name. I still have a family in Hungary."

One such refugee is a 51-year-old ex-newspaperman who had left his wife and three-year-old daughter in Budapest. "My wife urged me to go on," he says.

"She said it was more important for a man to be free because then he could do something about conditions back in our homeland. There is no hope... no future in Hungary. I quit newspaper work years ago and took the only job I could find—bricklaying."

Assistant Welfare Chieftain Named

COLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. C. William O'Neill Thursday appointed Richard Minor, 35, of Worthington, assistant director of the state welfare department.

Minor, a former FBI agent, previously served under O'Neill, representing the state welfare department in the claims division of the attorney general's office.

Louis—an Austrian medical aide and an Austrian nurse, they work day and night treating the sick and injured refugees and keeping the camp sanitary.

The Hungarians are deeply grateful for the help they receive. Their gratitude goes out to the Austrians who allow them to flood this small nation.

They also are grateful to the American people, without whose help they would be unable to get this chance for a new life in the United States.

Quick Buy In Land Urged For Parks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Immediate purchase of land is the best answer to Ohio's "critical need" for more state parks, a natural resources official said Thursday.

Buy now before land prices get too high, advised James D. Wells, assistant state natural resources director. He spoke at the concluding session of the Ohio natural resources conference here.

He said Ohio has made "notable progress in the development of state parks and facilities, although we have a critical need for more camping areas, vacation cabins, beach facilities and the like."

To meet the needs, he went on, "these lands should be acquired now even though no structure is placed on them for another decade or longer. If there is a 5-10-10 year delay, the land may not be available or may cost too much."

Ohio's ultimate goal, he said, is to have a major park within one hour's drive from any point in the state.
